1. At present a plan is being studied by the Argentine Government for the creation of a new ministry to be called the Ministry of Communications and Transport. Having as its responsibility all affairs pertaining to land and air transportation in the country, this new ministry will have five Secretaries General. Possibly heading this new section will be the present Director of Posts and Telecommunications, Oscar Nicolini. At the moment, Mr. Brandan, Secretary to Nicolini, is said to be in charge of plans for this new ministry.
2. A project is also under discussion for the erecting of a large public building to house the agencies dealing with air transportation. The building will be equipped with terraces suitable for the landing of helicopters.
